

I have found XM satellite radio vastly superior to AM and FM in the region I live in. I am originally from Chicago, still own property there, and with the recent flooding it is great to have up to the minute weather information, and know about current traffic and road construction, as I return fairly often. It is the 21st century. I agree with those who call the NAB a dinosaur. Competition in the marketplace, free trade, new ideas. Has the NAB heard of these things? I shall be watching this issue intensely. I stand with XM Radio, I LOVE IT. FM AND AM ARE all but DEAD.
